

Centerville-Washington History Donations Policy

Thank you for thinking of Centerville-Washington History! Because we have limited space for donated items, donations are by APPOINTMENT ONLY.

Centerville-Washington History has THREE potential uses for donated items:

1. Adding to our collection
2. Selling at Antiques Village
3. Using for educational programming

(NOTE: Items for individual family genealogy files still go to the Curator for archiving.)

Adding to the Collection

For donations to be considered for inclusion in our museum's collection, contact Joellen Ulliman, Curator, at (937) 312-0040 or joellencwths@sbcglobal.net

Additions to the collection are the rarest use for donated items!

Please consider, is the prospective collection item . . .

- significant to Centerville/Washington Township people or properties?
- suitable for exhibit, historically important, or from an event or time period that had a direct impact on our community?
- illustrative of work, recreation, or lifestyles in Centerville/Washington Township?
- in good, unaltered condition?
- something we don't already own?

If the Curator accepts an item for the collection, please make sure...

- to include any context or history you know about the item(s)
- to provide any original parts and/or manuals, if possible
- items are organized and clearly labeled

Selling at Antiques Village

For items to be sold at the antique mall, contact any of our three buildings:

- Asahel Wright House: (937) 291-2223
- Walton House: (937) 433-0123
- Nutt Cottage Research Center: (937) 312-0040

All proceeds from Antiques Village sales support Centerville-Washington History.

Using for Education

For donations to be considered for use in our education programs, contact Carrie Burns, Education Coordinator at (937) 291-2223 or carriecwh@sbcglobal.net

Centerville-Washington History is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization. Receipts will be issued for all items received. The responsibility of assigning monetary value for items rests with the donor.
